

FACULTY & STUDENT SEMINAR

4:00 PM – 5:00 PM
Monday, October 26, 2009
Cheek Hall 204

Adventures and Educational Opportunities in Amazonia: Yachana Eco-Lodge in Ecuador

Dr. Judith Meyer

Geography, Geology
and Planning

Ms. Abbe Ehlers

Hospitality & Restaurant
Administration

Dr. Alexander Wait

Biology

ABSTRACT

Join us for a presentation on study-away, internship, and graduate project/theses research opportunities at Yachana, an eco-lodge in Ecuador.

Yachana, means “a place for learning” and this eco- lodge provides opportunities for Missouri State students to study, and faculty to teach, subjects from anthropology to business to botany to ecotourism to nursing to Spanish emersion to zoology. We will present an overview of the learning and teaching and research opportunities at this remote, environmentally responsible lodge that won a National Geographic geo-tourism prize for sustainability. Learn about the cuisine, biology, zoology, physical and cultural geography, and more. The first study away program is scheduled for May 2010!

All are welcome!