INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS AT MISSOURI STATE UNIVERSITY

International Programs operates under the guidance of the Division of Research and Economic Development as a point of coordination for several offices within the University that provide services for international students and faculty as well as students and faculty traveling abroad.

The benefits of international education and exchange are almost too numerous to count. Even our local community members can benefit from the exposure to different peoples and cultures from around the world. International Programs' mission is to facilitate these programs at Missouri State.

All of the international student organizations, such as AIS, ISA, and IPALS, make the transition so easy for you to become a part of the international community on campus. For me, Missouri State is a home away from home.
