

Sustainability and Urban Agriculture in the U.S.

Join us in St. Louis or Milwaukee to engage with the Public Affairs Mission through service. This year's fall trips will both focus on sustainability and urban agriculture. Join us in St. Louis or Milwaukee to serve with urban farms and gardens, learn about how these practices benefit the community, and explore the unique culture of these communities. Through meaningful service and reflection, participants will better understand how these practices are used to combat food insecurity and eliminate food deserts in the area. Participants will return from the trip with a broadened perspective of food security and sustainable practices.
