

U.S. Professors of the Year AWARDS PROGRAM

Nominations Are Now Open for U.S. Professors of the Year Award

Nominees should demonstrate excellence in the following areas:

- ◆ Impact on and involvement with undergraduate students
- ◆ A scholarly approach to teaching and learning
- ◆ Contributions to undergraduate education in the institution, community, and profession
- ◆ Support from colleagues and former undergraduate students

Submit nominations to the Faculty Center for Teaching and Learning by Wednesday, December 7.

Nominees will be contacted by the FCTL with details on necessary application materials. Applications will be reviewed by the FCTL Advisory Committee, and three candidates will be selected for submission to the US Professor of the Year competition.

More information is available at:

<http://www.usprofessoroftheyear.org/Nominations.html>

Examples of application documents required from nominees can be found at:

http://www.usprofessoroftheyear.org/Nominations/Nominations_Materials_Examples.html

Previous Missouri State University US Professor of the Year for Missouri award recipients are:
Nancy Keith, 2010 & Pawan Kahol, 2009