

Network with influential women who have overcome substantial barriers to become successful

MISSOURI STATE UNIVERSITY
WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

A FORCE OF ~~NATURE~~ WOMEN

APRIL 25-26, 2014

In the Robert W. Plaster Student Union on the campus of Missouri State University

About the conference

Women leaders are a "force of nature" when it comes to perseverance, endurance and producing successful outcomes. Missouri State University's first Women's Leadership Conference will explore women's roles and their impact in all walks of life including business, sports, education and health.

Connecting forces

Conference attendees will have the opportunity to interact with some of the most influential women from around the country. Be sure to bring business cards to share and enter into drawings.

Sessions will explore:

- How successful women stay grounded and keep paying it forward to future generations
- Current relevant trends in personal and professional development
- Balancing day-to-day pressures of a career and maintaining a healthy work-life balance

Continuing Education Units

CEU's are available to conference participants.

Registration

For a complete list of conference events and to register, visit www.publicaffairs.missouristate.edu/wlc/. Registration closes April 17. Don't miss this unique, educational and high-energy event!

Keynote speaker

Kim Norwood is author of "Color Matters: Skin Tone Bias and the Myth of a Post-Racial America" and a professor of law and of African and African-American studies at Washington University. She is the founder and co-director of the Black Law Students Association, a mentor program for the black law students at Washington University.

publicaffairs.missouristate.edu/wlc

Missouri State
UNIVERSITY