“It’s Not You, It’s Me:”

The Fed’s Problem with Commitment

Dr. C. Patrick Scott— Department of Economics

November 5, 2014

Time: 3:30 pm

Strong Hall 250

Dr. Scott will discuss how the Federal Reserve responds to changes in the economy when its target inflation rate changes over time. He will also talk about how to statistically estimate unobserved variables for which data is not available.
